THIS DOCUMENT CONTAINS
POOR QUALITY PAGES

Dear Mr. Watson:

In response to my request for an index or check list by which the documents furnished by Consumers Power could be identified or otherwise referenced as being responses to the Joint Document Requests, you indicated that no such check list or index, such as Intervenors have supplied, is available.

Will you please indicate how the company determined that a particular document was responsive to a particular request? If no such check list or index has been prepared, then it would appear appropriate that your office identify each document with respect to the numbered request or indicate, at least on general terms, some basis for classifying or grouping the documents. Please furnish this information before April 12, 1973.

Sincerely,

James Carl Pollock
