DPM Procedures on Providing Nonroutine Information to Congress

a. Through OCA

Generally, matters within the purview of DPM responsibilities do not warrant a special letter or nonroutine type communication with Congress. However, a determination as to whether a nonroutine notification should be provided to Congress is normally based on whether it is believed that Congress needs an explicit and detailed discussion on a controversial matter that has been, or is being, extensively adjudicated (e.g., ECCS, fuel densification, Seabrook).

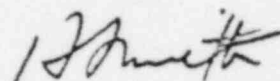

b. By Other Means

None.

Items DPM could reasonably provide in order to keep the Congress
"fully and currently informed."

1. NRC's monthly publication on Licensing Projections - LWAs, CPs, OLS and PDA.
2. Notices of Receipt and Availability.
3. Notices of Hearing.
4. Partial and Initial Decisions.
5. Appeal Board Decisions
6. Commission Orders and Decisions related to Appeal Board Decisions.

Please note that Items 1 through 7 above ^(page 1) were previously sent to the JCAE and are now being sent to the Committees identified above in accordance with Bulletin 0240-6, dated March 14, 1977.
