Nuclear Station TMI-1 should be restarted at once! It is in the best interest of the nation, and certainly of the people in Pennsylvania, to put TMI-1 back in service. It was not damaged in the TMI-2 accident, and it is senseless to keep it shut down, while coal must be burned to replace the electricity it would generate. The burning of that coal produces roughly two premature deaths per week - which would not occur if the electricity were generated by the TMI-1 plant.

Enough of this gruesome politics! Let's get TMI-1 back on the line so people can breathe easier.
