RE: Reply to a Notice of Violation
Docket No. 030-14353
License No. 29-18018-01

To Whom It May Concern:

Testwell Craig Testing Laboratories, Inc. is herewith submitting the following information and response for your use and review:

ITEM A - Improper Storage

Testwell Craig's field technician stored his nuclear densometer in a construction trailer office when not in use. This office was not locked at all times as required.

As a result of the November 2nd, 1993 inspection, Testwell Craig took the following action:

- 1) A lockable storage cabinet was constructed in accordance with NRC requirements and shipped to the site for use by our field technician.
- 2) Field technician was disciplined for improperly storing his equipment.

This action was taken immediately and full compliance has been achieved since November 10th, 1993.

ITEM B - Exposure Records

Two of Testwell Craig's field technicians failed to turn in their TLD's for the time period October 15th, 1992 to October 15th, 1993 and July 15th, 1993 to October 15th, 1993 respectfully.

As a result of your December 21st, 1993, Testwell Craig took the following action:

- 1) Estimated radiation exposure amounts were recorded in the employee files for the radiation exposure records.
- 2) Field technicians were disciplined for their failure to submit TLD's to laboratory manager.
- 3) Laboratory manager was instructed to review TLD's with radiation safety officer prior to submission to R.S. Landauer, Inc.

This action was taken immediately and full compliance was achieved by January 15th, 1994.

We trust the information submitted is sufficient for your use and review.
