- REFERENCES: (a) Letter from D. G. Eisenhut to All Licensees of Operating Reactors dated May 5, 1982 (Generic Letter 82-10)
- (b) Letter from A. E. Lundvall, Jr. to D. G. Eisenhut dated June 4, 1982

Gentlemen:

Reference (a) requested detailed schedule information on TMI-related items. We stated in reference (b) that we expected to satisfy the schedule requirement regarding NUREG-0737, Item I.C.1 and committed to revising our emergency operating procedures by the conclusion of the first refueling outage after October 1, 1982. For Calvert Cliffs, the first refueling outage after October 1, 1982, will begin on October 15, 1982, and is expected to last approximately seventy-five days. Therefore, our existing commitment would require us to revise our emergency operating procedures and train our licensed personnel in the use of these procedures prior to January 1, 1983.

From the discussions held at the latest working group session between Combustion Engineering, utility representatives, and Mr. Goodman of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission staff, it became evident that the present schedule for satisfying our NUREG-0737, Item I.C.1 is not feasible. It is proposed that the schedule be revised in a manner consistent with the results of the Commissioner's most recent and not yet complete review of SECY-82-111, "Requirements for Emergency Response Capability."
