Supplementary information: The attached memoranda dated September 27 and 30, 1993, from James M. Taylor to Eric S. Beckjord and from Hugh L. Thompson to Richard L. Bangart, respectively, address NRC's deferral of it's Financial Assurance Rule, 10 CFR Part 30.35. This administrative rulemaking relating to exemptions from financial assurance requirements for teletherapy licensees has been deferred at this time in light of the relatively low priority given to this administrative rule change due to low health and safety concern and the potentially shrinking magnitude of the problem. It was not the intent of the rule to include minor situations, in particular, cobalt-60 (Co-60) teletherapy changes and licensees possessing krypton-85 (Kr-85). However, it is suggested that for those Agreement States that do not have the equivalent 10 CFR Part 30.35 regulations in place, that these situations be taken into consideration when developing their rule.
