Additional info on the computer, which was requested by Marlene Taylor of NRC on 5/5/89.

SUMMARY

Russen said the Safety Interlock interrupt, which is printed out by the computer, in reference to the "Coeliox Device", occurs when the spring loaded device is tapped slightly which causes a momentary shut down of the system. He said any problems with the safety interlocks causes a momentary shut down of the system and the source drops to the shielded position. Russen said he got this information from the former RTI employee, John Wallace. Nothing additional was discussed.

Tell of Spanish instructions that

John Lussen 1<sup>0</sup>-1<sup>2</sup> PM at her

res: 7/28/89 - effective date -

Lussen said
he wanted to tell
me he had available
for any additional
questions or things
needed.

He stated my questions about
if he "authored" the same material from after the same time as the material was written by him & that he had no input @ how to say "assured",
not being fed out
of jacket

after 3 weeks up here
I thought about leaving

"Make it semi"
not final out

Smith + Kaimal assumed over the "at" word to go through it.

Lussen said he wanted to apologize for the court reported interview because he wanted to answer questions in greater detail but felt "uncomfortable" with Jessy Merritt. I told him he should have requested to be the primary interviewee and he would have been the primary interviewee. I said I would have been the primary interviewee but felt uncomfortable. I said I would have been the primary interviewee but felt uncomfortable.

Tess came to his door 3x to tell him he was needed in the mtg being held.
Lussen said he was not supposed to attend the meeting at first but then would be had to be there after he requested to see me in person. He was asked by RT# not (RT#) what he wanted to see me about & he said it was 'personal in nature'.

Tess came to door again and our mtg
ended.

False Statements - at EC

Near end of EC -

① I asked if 'any more problems' w re cell by switch →
 Russon "the cell by switch"; I said yes, he said "no" problem → Got it done after that. Didn't pursue → internal re - problem with R50 not giving truthful answer - obviously raises doubts about integrity - only report if done we say 2 & have no other need to report.
 "If found they knew while door was shut - willfully violated"
 Willful violation, if they knew during course of problem.

② "No one gained access to cell since 12/8 by bypassing" - "Tess"
 - computer logs all entries, regardless of processing or not - (non-conscious error about if any entries) Tess & Russon

Mbl asked again re conf of private, + Russon said "yes"

③ After contending there was an exchange of bay switcher, he told me
 during inspection (possibly on phone) can't recall

Door handle was fixed by getting a new one - no routing of trying the one from 1st to 2.

NY Taylor responses

If anyone had external done w/out log - do they need to report it?

- after the fact → (no need to report to NRC)

- While it occurred → Must shut down in order to fix - if cont. to run, direct violation of reg. (still don't have to report)

Cell log switch deterioration - do they need to report it?

→ log down for more than 24 hours.

If those were lies, what impact on regulatory action, licensing action etc, would they have had? (Severity of enforcement actions would most likely be affected to some extent)

Were they ~~aware~~ or did they know that ~~the~~ <sup>NRC</sup> was intending to rely on statements introduced at EC is very specific Impact on NRC decision making process! Enforcement actions would be affected - generally.

Was lesson imparted with any false statements allegedly made?

Aware of any mitigating info relating to responses at EC?

According to Marlene Taylor the printing of DRSS regarding inadvertent entry is:

The Method by which a reasonable person would/could gain access to the cell. (eg. passing door with a door knob, a reasonable person would turn knob + push on door to enter)

Problem with being able to push door open:
eg. Take key out of handle - would result in source dropping. However, if source hung up or didn't drop the RMB II would read the high radiation and continue to "lock out" the key into on door making key useless. BVT if door knob malfunctioning + permitted access by twisting <sup>knob</sup> + pushing door open → it effectively by-passes the interlock to a high radiation area!

UNITED STATES
NUCLEAR REGULATORY COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D. C. 20555

January 8, 1990

Mr. Lawrence Lippe, Chief
Criminal Division, 6th Floor
U.S. Department of Justice
1400 New York Avenue, N.W.
Washington, DC 20530

Dear Mr. Lippe:

The enclosed Report (Case No. 1-89-006) is the result of an investigation conducted by the NRC Office of Investigations (OI) concerning Radiation Technology, Inc. (RTI), an NRC licensee now doing business as Process Technology North Jersey. This matter is being referred to your office because evidence was developed indicating potential criminal violations of 18 USC 1001 and 10 CFR 30.9. 10 CFR 30.9 is issued under Section 161(c) of the Atomic Energy Act (AEA), as amended (42 USC 223(a) of the AEA (42 USC 2273), makes a willful violation of a regulation issued under Section 161(c) of the AEA a criminal act.

This investigation was predicated upon allegations made by the NRC technical staff that RTI management may have provided false, inaccurate, or incomplete information to the NRC at an NRC Enforcement Conference (EC) held on April 26, 1989. Specifically, RTI management in the persons of the President/Chief Executive Officer (CEO), two Vice Presidents, and the Plant Manager/Radiation Safety Officer (RSO), either denied or failed to acknowledge having information that employees had entered the irradiator cell (containing Cobalt 60) by bypassing certain safety and control features associated with the irradiator's personnel access door. The investigation developed evidence that RTI management knew or should have known before the EC of at least three instances when the access door had been breached, without use of the regulation-required latch key, by three different employees.

An NRC safety inspection and the OI investigation also determined that regulatory violations occurred, including the failure of the RSO to maintain the irradiator door lock mechanism in a fully functional mode, which would have provided "positive control over each individual entry," as is required by 10 CFR 20.203. Furthermore, the OI investigation was hindered by false and misleading information that was knowingly provided by one of the irradiator operators. This same operator, during a previous OI investigation (Case No. 1-86-009), initially provided untruthful information to OI investigators which also hindered that investigation. That case eventually resulted in the Federal convictions of three managers, including the former President of the company.

In view of the evidence of possible Federal criminal violations, this report and exhibits, including sworn statements, are being forwarded to you for
