Dear Chairman Selin:

I read about the Louisiana Energy Services Company plan to build an enriched uranium factory in black communities of Louisiana. I think this would be a mistake. This is an act of environmental racism. If the factories are put in these communities, lives are at stake. The deadly fuel used in these factories are also used in nuclear power plants. LES is said to produce 4,000 tons of hazardous waste each year. And residents are very concerned that this waste will be very dangerous to their health. All residents can't afford to move, so they have no choice but to live in an area dangerous to their health. This simply is not fair!!
