SUBJECT: STATUS OF RAY MILLER CASE RE: INDIAN POINT

In response to a request by Steve Varga to provide a testimony record for the Indian Point hearing on the status of the Ray Miller, Inc., case, we submit the information discussed in the following paragraphs. It should be noted that this testimony is limited to the actions taken by IE and the information obtained from our review of the available Ray Miller, Inc., records in the custody of the FBI in Charleston, West Virginia. These records cover the period 1975 through 1979 for the Charleston, West Virginia branch office of Ray Miller, Inc. The fraudulent practices are believed to have existed for a considerably longer period of time, and may have occurred at other Ray Miller, Inc., branch offices.

On January 26, 1983, IE Information Notice No. 83-01 (IN 83-01), "Ray Miller, Inc.," (enclosed) was forwarded to all nuclear power plants. This Notice provided early notification of a potentially significant problem pertaining to fraudulent products that may have been sold by Ray Miller, Inc. It was suggested that licensees isolate suspect products which may have been received and prevent the further installation of such materials until more information is obtained.

Since issuance of IN 83-01, the NRC staff has reviewed Ray Miller, Inc., records from the Charleston, West Virginia branch office for the period 1975 through 1979. Based on the results of this review, IE Information Notice No. 83-01, Supplement 1 (enclosed) was distributed on April 19, 1983 and provided an expanded customer list along with an identification of those companies that received apparently fraudulent materials. Consolidated Edison Company of New York was identified as a company receiving apparently fraudulent materials. However, details from the records reviewed, which have not yet been published, show that this material was shipped to Long Island City, New York. It is not known, at this time, whether the materials were then transferred to the Indian Point nuclear facility. We understand, however, that the licensee has identified a number of purchases from Ray Miller, Inc., and that some of the materials were intended for safety related systems. These materials are being tracked by the licensee and the safety significance of their use is being evaluated. The NRC staff does not have information as to which branch office of Ray Miller, Inc., supplied the materials or whether any of the materials were fraudulent.

Actions planned by the NRC staff for the near future include issuance of an IE Bulletin to reactor and nuclear fuel cycle licensees with an enclosed computer listing of all purchase orders that apparently involve fraudulent substitution of materials. Licensees will be requested to determine where suspect material has been installed in plants, evaluate its safety-significance, and test suspect material not yet installed. At approximately the same time, NRC plans to send a letter to each nonlicensee company that received apparently fraudulent material from Ray Miller, Inc., with specific information on the purchase order number, date, and type of fraud apparently committed. These purchasers will be requested to provide information to the NRC and any appropriate licensee identifying any reactor or nuclear fuel cycle licensees that may have been supplied fraudulent materials.

Based on the specific types of apparently fraudulent material identified to date, the NRC staff does not have immediate health and safety concerns. The scope of supply of materials by Ray Miller, Inc., to nuclear facilities appears to be small, both in sizes of orders and size of piping material, fittings and tubing. However, NRC will continue to pursue this problem until every reasonable action has been taken to assure safe-operation of affected nuclear facilities.

Division of Emergency Preparedness and Engineering Response

IE INFORMATION NOTICE NO. 83-01: RAY MILLER, INC.

Addressees:

All holders of a nuclear power reactor or fuel facility operating license (OL) or construction permit (CP).

Purpose:

This information notice is provided as an early notification of a potentially significant problem pertaining to fraudulent products that may have been sold to nuclear industry companies by Ray Miller, Inc. This problem may affect both PWR and BWR facilities. The Nuclear Regulatory Commission staff is reviewing the problem and its effects. If the evaluation so indicates, the NRC may request explicit licensee or CP holder action. In the interim, we expect the addressees of this information notice to review the information herein for applicability to their facilities. No specific action or response is required at this time.

Description of Circumstances:

A. Background

During November 1982, the Nuclear Regulatory Commission became aware that Ray Miller, Inc., Charleston, West Virginia had been systematically defrauding its customers, including some nuclear industry companies, by marketing products under false pretense, -i.e., the markings on cheaper, lower quality products were altered to make them appear to be of higher quality. Former company officers pleaded guilty in the US District Court in Charleston, West Virginia to 10 felonies: six counts of mail fraud and four counts of wire fraud.

Ray Miller, Inc. was a New Jersey corporation with its main office located in West Caldwell, New Jersey and with branch offices in Charleston, West Virginia; Decatur, Georgia; Buffalo, New York; and Skokie, Illinois. The Ray Miller office in Charleston, West Virginia was stated to be the only office with equipment capable of making alterations of markings on materials. The firm had been under investigation by special FBI agents for three years before prosecution by the Office of U.S. Attorney, Charleston, West Virginia.

The precise number of nuclear-related businesses that may have been defrauded by Ray Miller, Inc. remains an unknown. Records are incomplete and the situation is further complicated by the firm ceasing to operate and filing for reorganization under Chapter 11 of the bankruptcy statutes. An Assistant U.S. Attorney has determined that Ray Miller may have shipped substandard products to at least 125 companies in the 19-year period before the FBI began its probe in July 1979. Under the terms of the plea agreement, Ray Miller, Inc. is to notify, by February 1, 1983, all companies with which it had business dealings, concerning the firm's fraudulent practices.

Some of the nuclear industry companies appearing on an FBI-generated list of Ray Miller customers for the year 1979 include Babcock and Wilcox, Combustion Engineering, Goodyear Atomic, Tennessee Valley Authority, Virginia Electric and Power (VEPCO), and Allied Chemical (at Barnwell).

VEPCO and Barnwell are aware of the Ray Miller problem. VEPCO has placed suspect fraudulent material, which had not been installed, on hold.

B. Discussion

Specifically, the scheme to defraud as practiced by Ray Miller, Inc. from approximately 1960 to 1979 was exposed by an extensive investigation conducted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The primary practices which formed that scheme, as detailed by the FBI, are as follows:

1. Markings on pipes and nipples indicating the foreign country where the product was manufactured were removed and the pipes and nipples were sold as domestic-made products.
2. Stainless steel (304 and 316) couplings, flanges, and bushings having standard carbon content were altered by imprinting an "L", making the marking on couplings, flanges and bushings appear as low carbon content materials.
3. Falsely notarized documents were prepared with billings, certifying that the materials shipped were of low carbon content when in fact they were not.
4. Welded and drawn tubing was altered by removing the markings "WD" from this product and it was sold as seamless tubing.

The Ray Miller records were made available to the NRC after the company officers who pleaded guilty were sentenced on December 23, 1982. On January 6 and 7, 1983, members of the NRC met with the FBI and the Assistant U.S. Attorney in Charleston, West Virginia to discuss the Ray Miller, Inc. case and to review a sample of the 29 boxes of records currently in the custody of the FBI. These records cover the period from 1975 to 1979. After 1979, Ray Miller, Inc. apparently ceased its fraudulent practices. The NRC is checking on the availability of records that pre-date 1975.

During the sampling of records by the NRC, the following additional documentation of product substitution was identified: machined items were sold as forged ones, and materials with a low capacity to withstand pressure, i.e., 150 psi pipe plugs, were sold as materials capable of withstanding much greater pressures, e.g., 3000 psi pipe plugs. Some of the invoices reviewed by NRC representatives and used as undeniable evidence by the U.S. Attorney's Office, were found to actually have the written notation, "Remark", indicating product fraud.

Primarily, the NRC representatives attempted to ascertain the extent that Ray Miller's fraudulent practices may have impacted nuclear-related companies. Based on a sampling of the records, the NRC staff reached the following very general conclusions:

1. It appears that Ray Miller, Inc. supplied products to only a few companies directly involved in the nuclear power industry. However, the full extent to which the firm's products may be used in the nuclear industry is not known, since these products were sold to many jobbers and distributors.
2. Most shipments which were received directly by nuclear-related businesses were relatively small.
3. Generally, only a small portion of Ray Miller products purchased by nuclear industry companies appears to be fraudulent.

A search of the License Event Report file has been conducted by the National Science Information Center (Oak Ridge, Tennessee) for the NRC and no instances were identified in which nuclear facilities have reported deficiencies attributed to Ray Miller, Inc. materials.

C. Guidance

Enclosed for your information and appropriate action is a list from the Charleston office of Ray Miller's customers in 1979. As previously noted, this list resulted from an FBI investigation and may not be all inclusive, since orders made through other Ray Miller branch offices were sometimes filled by the Charleston office. A composite list of customers for other years is not available.

Therefore, the NRC staff suggests that, like VEPCO, other nuclear industry companies isolate suspect Ray Miller products which may have been received and prevent the further installation of such materials until more information is obtained. Efforts are continuing to coordinate resources from various sectors of the nuclear industry and DOE to provide a detailed examination of all Ray Miller records known to exist. It is conjectured that these efforts will yield useful information for placing "bounds" on the types of fraudulent materials shipped and identifying a more comprehensive list of buyers who may have received these materials.

NUCLEAR REGULATORY COMMISSION
OFFICE OF INSPECTION AND ENFORCEMENT
WASHINGTON, D. C. 20555

April 15, 1983

IE INFORMATION NOTICE NO. 83-01, SUPPLEMENT 1: RAY MILLER, INC.

Addressees:

All holders of a nuclear power reactor operating license (OL) or construction permit (CP), nuclear fuel cycle licensees and Category B, Priority I material licensees.

Purpose:

This information notice is a supplement to IE Information Notice No. 83-01, issued on January 26, 1983. This generic communication provides an expanded customer list and information related to a potentially significant problem involving fraudulent products that may have been sold to nuclear industry companies by Ray Miller, Inc. of Charleston, West Virginia. The sale of fraudulent materials may have been direct to nuclear industry companies, or indirect, e.g., supplied through several tiers of subcontractors.

Planned Future Actions:

This information notice is being issued as an intermediate step. Actions planned for the near future include issuance of an IE Bulletin to reactor or nuclear fuel cycle licensees with an enclosed computer listing of all purchase orders that apparently involve fraudulent substitution of materials. At approximately the same time, NRC plans to send a letter to each nonlicensee company that received apparently fraudulent material from Ray Miller with specific information on the purchase order number, date, and type of fraud apparently committed. These purchasers will be requested to provide information to the NRC identifying any NRC reactor or nuclear fuel cycle licensees that may have been supplied fraudulent materials.

Discussion:

On February 25, 1983, members of the NRC completed a detailed review of the 29 boxes of Ray Miller, Inc. records that are under the custody of the U.S. Attorney's Office in Charleston, West Virginia. The results of this review have been inputted into computer data files. The information that is immediately available includes a more comprehensive customer list than that provided with IE Information Notice 83-01, and a designation of those companies that apparently received fraudulent materials. This list is provided in Attachment 1.

The attached updated customer list enumerates those customers that received materials from the Charleston, West Virginia office during the period 1975-1979. The presence of a company's name on this list does not necessarily mean that it received fraudulent material, only that the company was a customer of Ray Miller, Inc. of Charleston or received materials directly from the Charleston office. However, there is not absolute certainty that orders were filled as specified, because notations on the work sheets may not have been recorded in all cases. Notations were generally written onto the work sheets when substitutions were made.

The designation of those companies that apparently received fraudulent materials is shown by an asterisk on the customer list. A review of notations on the work sheets indicate that substitution of material apparently occurred for part of at least one order placed by these companies during the period 1975-1979. Details concerning these apparently fraudulent shipments will be provided to those companies who may have received such shipments, as soon as further sorting and evaluation of the data file is completed.

If you have any questions regarding this matter please contact the Regional Administrator of the appropriate NRC Regional Office or this office.
