5. The withheld information consists of interagency or intragency records that are not available through discovery during litigation (EXEMPTION 5).   - Disclosure could reasonably be expected to interfere with an enforcement proceeding because it could reveal the scope, direction, and focus of law enforcement efforts, and thus could possibly allow them to take action to shield potential wrongdoers or a violation of NRC requirements from investigation (EXEMPTION 7(A)).
  - Disclosure would constitute an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy (EXEMPTION 7(C)).
  - The information consists of names of individuals and other information the disclosure of which could reasonably be expected to reveal identities of confidential sources (EXEMPTION 7(D)).
