Dear Mr. Bell:

Enclosed you will find a preliminary manual for our micro cross-section detector Model #(2-2830) as requested some time ago. You will note that the safety section is identical to the electron capture manual (Model #2-2837), which you have already in your files.

Although this is a preliminary manual, the changes before final printing will only involve the printing method and some operational changes, but not the safety section.

Very truly yours,

J. Peters
