Supplemental Response to IE Bulletin 83-05: ASME
Nuclear Code Pumps and Spare Parts Manufactured by Hayward Tyler Pump Company

Reference: Boston Edison Company (BECO) Letter (W. D. Harrington) to NRC (T. E. Murley) dated August 30, 1983

Dear Sir:

The above reference submitted information in response to IE Bulletin 83-05.
At the time of that submittal four Hayward Tyler Pump Company (HTPC) Pumps had been procured for our Pilgrim 2 Project.

This letter informs you of recent actions regarding two of these HTPC pumps.
One Boric Acid makeup pump and one Equipment drain pump, as described in Attachment 1 to the Bulletin, have been transferred to the Pilgrim 1 Training Department. These pumps will be used for training purposes only. To ensure that neither the pumps nor the major components will be used in systems important to safety at Pilgrim 1, we are taking additional actions to label and deface the major pump components. These actions, in conjunction with existing controls for procurement of safety related components, are considered adequate to address the Bulletin requirements.
