Note to E. Greenman

I received a telephone call from Ivan Frinforck, Vice President, JCP&L, Mr. Finrock informed me that the plant scrambled on 9/25 and that he was unaware of any particular problem. He called me to tell me ~~that~~ the fact they were down for awhile and that they were not planning to make the examinations of their 2" lines. They had committed to do this during their mid to late October planned outage and they were not prepared to run that type examination right now.

I told him that I believed this was the understanding and if there was any problem I would get back to him promptly. I checked with appropriate people and Region I considers this to be acceptable.
