Dear Sirs:

In New York, altho the Governor and the Suffolk County Commissioner oppose the licensing of the Shoreham nuclear plant because they claim that the area cannot be evacuated, the enclosed letter copies from them directly contradict these statements.

Under the circumstances, whom is one to believe?

Very truly yours,

Morris Seldin

Dear Dr. Seldin:

My office is in receipt of your letter concerning the county-wide disaster planning.

You noted in your letter that several of your relatives live in the Mastic Beach and Riverhead areas and you were concerned as to whether or not Suffolk County has in force available evacuation plans for that area.

Please be assured that Suffolk County through its department of Fire, Rescue and Emergency Services does in fact have a full scale disaster plan in force.

This workable plan would be coordinated by Commissioner Herb Davis of the Department of Fire, Rescue and Emergency Services.

If you need further information concerning the county-wide disaster plan, please contact Commissioner Davis at 286-5259.

I hope this information has been helpful to you in this matter.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Dr. Seldin:

Governor Cuomo has referred your letter of March 11, 1985 to this office for response.

We share your concern for evacuation plans in the event of a catastrophe, natural or man-made. Plans of this nature are the responsibility of local government to develop and Suffolk County has developed a county-wide disaster plan for all hazards. The Long Island Planning Commission has developed a hazard specific plan which addresses hurricanes.

For more information regarding these plans I suggest you contact:

Mr. William E. Regan, Director
Suffolk County Department of Emergency Preparedness
P.O. Box 127, Yaphank Avenue
Yaphank, New York 11980

Thank you for your interest in emergency management and for this opportunity to be of service.

Sincerely,

Donald A. DeVito
Director
