Gentlemen:

Enclosed for your information is a sample teletherapy license which is typical of the ones we expect to issue to persons using teletherapy units. Our experience with the teletherapy licensing program indicates that this license contains the requirements necessary for such programs.

You may wish to examine this license to determine if the instructions provided your customers for the establishment of a teletherapy program will fulfill your customer's needs for operation under this type of license.

Very truly yours,

Jack M. Ball
