Pursuant to the previously announced intention to decommission, the University of California, Berkeley will discontinue operation of the Berkeley Research Reactor on January 1, 1988.

The Department of Nuclear Engineering would like to thank all users, experimenters, and other participants who have worked together during the twenty-one years the reactor has been operating. Through your efforts, the Berkeley Research Reactor has been a successful research, educational, and test facility supporting programs from a wide spectrum of scientific and engineering endeavors.

We are grateful to the various agencies, institutions, departments, and individuals from within the University and from outside organizations who have supported the reactor facility for more than two decades.

Sincerely yours,

Tek H. Lim
Reactor Supervisor and
Lecturer in Nuclear
Engineering
