List of Open Items

1. Unresolved Item 88-26-01

- a. The licensee does not have a ready means of demonstrating process conservatism in the current application of electrical-raceway safety-train separation criteria. The existing criteria vary in the prescriptive documents that reflect implementation of the Wyle Laboratories test data used as the bases for not installing fire separation barriers otherwise required by NRC Regulatory Guide 1.75.
- b. The licensee did not have or show the use of appropriate thermal separation criteria for minimum space between electrical raceways and thermally-hot equipment other than piping.
- c. The licensee readiness review did not carry out the planned review element of cable tray cover installation activities due to cable pulling operations then in progress.
