U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Comm.
Washington D.C.

Dear Sir:

Your agency's time to render any decision on regulatory interpretation is too long!!

Concerning the need for emergency planning for low power licenses, was there a problem with this phase of bringing existing nuclear plants on line? Why the hesitancy now to allow Seabrook Station to perform low-power testing?

My light and power department is spending rate payers money on caretaking expenses because your commission appears reluctant to make a decision! Favorable or not, make a decision so interested principals can then make their appropriate policy decision.

Sincerely

Arden G. Garrison
