Re: GEIS for small-scale advanced reactors, Docket ID: NRC-2020-0101

Dear Nuclear Regulatory Commission,

Please accept these comments supporting development of a Generic Environmental Impact Statement (GEIS) for small-scale advanced nuclear reactors.

Nuclear power offers the greatest promise for significantly combatting climate change and reducing greenhouse gas emissions while ensuring delivery of reliable electricity, baseload and dispatchable, to the grid. Moreover, the ecological footprint of nuclear power is dramatically less than any other form of energy, fossil fuel or renewable.

Preparing a GEIS for small-scale advanced reactors is appropriate due to the inherent safety, minimum waste, and low impact of small modular designs. From a regulatory standpoint, a GEIS is the most effective mechanism for bringing such technology to market.

Development of advanced small-scale reactors is critical for the United States to remain technical competitive, and most importantly to sustainability of the planet.

Again I strongly support development of a GEIS for this technology.

Sincerely,
Keith Schue
