Dear Mr. Ritsher:

Pursuant to our conversation, I have enclosed some introductory materials on Laventhol & Horwath's Emergency and Environmental Advisory Services.

Laventhol & Horwath's Emergency and Environmental Advisory Services provides management advisory services to the private and public sector. It consists of four integrated strategic business units:

Regulatory Compliance

We provide analyses of existing plans and procedures, compare them to current regulatory requirements, and outline a strategy to assure regulatory compliance.

Emergency Planning

Extensive planning experience allows us to reduce the time and costs normally associated with preparing a comprehensive emergency preparedness program. We follow a standard format based upon regulatory requirement and safety standards to produce a workable emergency plan and implementing procedures.

Training Services

In-depth expertise in a variety of adult educational settings, provides a combination few companies can offer.

Information Management

We assist our clients to create information systems to track reporting requirements, identify commitments, cross-reference multiple contingency plans, hazardous materials, resources and workflows.
