

Inclusive Diversity Strategic Plan Fiscal Years 2021-2026

By law, the Federal Government's recruitment policies should "endeavor to achieve a work force from all segments of society," while avoiding discrimination for or against any employee or applicant on the basis of race, color, religion, sex (including pregnancy or gender identity), national origin, age, disability, sexual orientation, or any other prohibited basis (5 U.S.C. 2301(b)(1), 2302(b)). As the Nation's largest employer, the Federal Government has an obligation to lead by example. Seeking to attain a diverse, qualified workforce is a cornerstone of the merit-based civil service.

Our Nation derives strength from the diversity of its population and from its commitment to equal opportunity for all. We are at our best when we draw on the talents of all parts of our society, and our greatest accomplishments are achieved when diverse perspectives are brought to bear to overcome our greatest challenges.

A Message from the Executive Director for Operations

I am pleased to present the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission's (NRC's) Inclusive Diversity Strategic Plan (IDSP) for fiscal years (FY) 2021–2026. The NRC considers the IDSP as a blueprint that links engagement of our employees and transformation of our organization to our safety and security objectives. The NRC's mission is to license and regulate the Nation's civilian use of radioactive materials to provide reasonable assurance of adequate protection of public health and safety, to promote the common defense and security, and to protect the environment. As we work to succeed in this mission, we will continue our commitment to diversity, equity, inclusion, and accessibility in all aspects of Agency operations. When we draw on the wisdom of a workforce that reflects the population we serve, we are better able to understand and meet the needs of our customers—the American people.

An ideal workforce is an inclusive workforce, supported by an Agency that draws on the creativity and innovation produced by employees with diverse backgrounds, perspectives, experiences, approaches, and thoughts. By considering diversity and inclusion in recruitment, hiring, promotion, advancement, and other selection activities, as well as developmental and training opportunities and inter-agency working groups, we position our workforce to effectively address the greatest challenges we face. We also strive to ensure that the NRC is regarded as an Agency that provides equal employment opportunity and serves as an employer of choice for a diverse workforce.

The FY 2021–2026 IDSP will guide the NRC as it competes for qualified talent in today's job market. It will also help us maintain our focus on proactive pursuit of a healthy organizational culture in which employees feel a sense of belonging, can bring their whole selves to work, and accomplish the NRC's mission in a high-trust environment. The IDSP will drive employee engagement and organizational transformation as the NRC continues to work toward a sustainable approach to inclusive diversity while fulfilling its safety and security responsibilities to protect the American people.

Diversity and Inclusion Policy Statement

TO: ALL NRC Employees

SUBJECT: DIVERSITY AND INCLUSION POLICY STATEMENT

This announcement is to convey my strongly held view that all employees at the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) must consider diversity and inclusion in Agency operations and maintain a work environment free from discriminatory harassment and intimidation. This announcement also serves as a reminder of the NRC's policy of ensuring that diversity, inclusion, and respect for every employee are integral parts of our day-to-day management and work. Executive Order 13583, "Establishing a Coordinated Government-wide Initiative to Promote Diversity and Inclusion in the Federal Workforce," provides that the Federal Government serve as a model of equal opportunity. It is my expectation the NRC workforce uphold a strong commitment to equal opportunity for all employees and job applicants and that this expectation be communicated and supported by all members of the NRC.

The NRC's culture is based on fostering an open and collaborative work environment, such that all members of the workforce feel able to participate fully in carrying out the NRC's important regulatory responsibilities and to raise concerns without fear of reprisal or retaliation. The NRC is focusing on efforts to share the principles of diversity and inclusion through training and related activities intended to provide awareness of, and appreciation for, our colleagues' different backgrounds, experiences, cultures, and views. In order to fully accomplish our important safety and security mission and address the challenges we face, it is imperative that we not only encourage, but welcome, all views to be openly shared and considered as we make significant regulatory decisions.

As Chairman, I am committed to advancing the principles of diversity and inclusion throughout the NRC. I encourage all employees to thoughtfully consider how to best support the NRC's Inclusive Diversity Strategic Plan. Thank you for upholding the ideals of selfless public service, for bringing your whole selves to work every day, and for everything you do in our steadfast mission to protect the American public.

Introduction

Diversity and inclusion are integral to the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission's (NRC's) mission success. Staying competitive in today's global marketplace and economy requires an organizational culture and work environment, at all levels of the agency, where employees with varying perspectives, education levels, skills, life experiences, and backgrounds work together to achieve excellence and realize individual and organizational potential. In August 2011, President Obama issued Executive Order 13583, "Establishing a Coordinated Government-wide Initiative to Promote Diversity and Inclusion in the Federal Workforce," which outlined a commitment to equal opportunity, diversity, and inclusion for the Federal Government and identified focused, collaborative actions for the Office of Personnel Management (OPM), the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC), and the President's Management Council, as well as separate actions for executive agencies.

The OPM issued Governmentwide Diversity and Inclusion Strategic Plans in 2011 and 2016, which identified Federal goals for agencies to work toward. The NRC drafted its 2011 and 2016 Inclusive Diversity Strategic Plans (IDSPs) consistent with the OPM's guidance. The NRC's FY 2021–2026 IDSP, building on its 2016 IDSP, provides a blueprint for linking the diversity and inclusion initiative to the agency's mission and enhancing organizational engagement and transformation. The IDSP also supports the provisions of the NRC's Diversity and Inclusion Policy Statement.¹

Defining Diversity, Inclusion, and Inclusive Diversity

The agency's definitions for diversity, inclusion, and inclusive diversity are the same as those in the Governmentwide Diversity and Inclusion Strategic Plans. The NRC defines workforce diversity as a collection of individual attributes that together help agencies pursue organizational objectives efficiently and effectively. The NRC defines inclusion as a set of behaviors (culture) that encourages employees to feel valued for their unique qualities and to experience a sense of belonging. The NRC defines inclusive diversity as a set of behaviors that include prescribing and adhering to policies, procedures, and practices that promote collaboration among a diverse group to achieve the agency's mission.

The Value of Diversity and Inclusion for the NRC

Internal Drivers

As the Nation's largest employer, the Federal Government has an obligation to lead by example. Seeking to attain a diverse, qualified workforce is a cornerstone of the merit-based civil service.² The best way to accomplish this is by promoting a culture of valuing differences. We know that the best workforce comprises individuals from different backgrounds who hold divergent viewpoints, and that workforce diversity, when fully used, leads to inclusion of more ideas and viewpoints, which in turn leads to more creativity and innovation. The bottom line is that the NRC needs the best workforce to design creative and innovative technical solutions. The NRC must attract, use, and retain the best talent, which means it must create an organizational culture that welcomes employees with varying perspectives, education levels, skills, life experiences, and backgrounds. It also must create an inclusive work environment in which employees can achieve mission goals and realize individual and agency potential. The NRC should be an employer of choice for a diverse workforce and should effectively model equal employment opportunity (EEO).

External Drivers

The NRC, like all organizations, has a mission and a series of goals and objectives designed to help achieve it. The NRC's mission is to license and regulate the Nation's civilian use of radioactive materials to provide reasonable assurance of adequate protection of public health and safety, to promote the common defense and security, and to protect the environment. The agency's stakeholders include the U.S. Congress, other Government agencies, licensees, federally recognized Indian Tribes, the American public, and the international nuclear community—in a rapidly changing world.

The NRC has identified resource availability as an external factor that affects the agency's ability to meet its mission goals. The NRC recognizes that it needs a highly skilled, diverse workforce to carry out its regulatory oversight responsibilities, which include a wide range of complex technical duties and other activities worldwide, in collaboration with people from different backgrounds and cultures. The NRC's work is complex and requires the right mix of employees—highly skilled individuals from diverse backgrounds, who easily understand the views, values, and cultural beliefs of stakeholders throughout the United States and around the world.

The NRC also recognizes that its productivity depends on its employees' ability to communicate, interact, and coordinate day-to-day work activities with people across the globe (e.g., Tribal, domestic, foreign, and international governments; the nuclear industry; communities; special interest groups; and other stakeholders). The NRC's ability to hire a diverse workforce has an impact on bottom-line results. Specifically, the NRC needs skilled employees capable of working with diverse populations to maintain the high level of productivity needed to achieve the agency's mission goals: (1) to ensure the safe use of radioactive materials, while avoiding radiation exposures and releases of radioactive materials that harm people or the environment, and (2) to ensure the secure use of radioactive materials while preventing their use in a hostile manner.

The NRC's productivity will be substantially affected if the agency does not recruit and retain a diverse workforce capable of meeting these challenges. Therefore, an effective diversity and inclusion initiative is crucial to the NRC's effective and efficient use of its human resources to sustain productivity and fulfill its mission.

Principles of a Successful Diversity and Inclusion Approach

NRC Diversity and Inclusion Framework

The FY 2021–2026 IDSP is the centerpiece of the NRC’s diversity and inclusion initiative. It provides a solid foundation for fully integrating diversity and inclusion into the NRC’s mission and strategic decisionmaking and for developing strategies and initiatives at all agency levels. The IDSP is based on the following recognized principles:

- Demonstrated Leadership Commitment
- Employee Engagement and Effective Communication
- Optimization of Inclusive Diversity Efforts Using Data-Driven Approaches
- Demonstrated Commitment to Community Partnerships
- Continuous Diversity and Inclusion Cultural Competency Learning
- Shared Accountability and Responsibility for Diversity and Inclusion

The NRC has developed goals, strategies, and actions to implement these principles. Agency and office-level leadership, the Diversity Management Inclusion Council (DMIC), and other stakeholders will be able to expand upon these goals, strategies, and actions, as well as specify further mechanisms for implementing the principles. The broad nature of the principles upholds the NRC’s intent to obtain agencywide buyin for the IDSP and to allow offices latitude in incorporating the IDSP into their officecentered plans.

Development of This Plan

During the implementation phase of the 2011 Governmentwide Plan, the OPM, EEOC, and OMB conducted a series of feedback assistance roundtables to generate ideas and design strategies and programs that would accelerate progress under the 2016 Governmentwide Plan.³ The 2016 Governmentwide Plan outlined the second phase of implementation of Executive Order 13583. It included the following initiatives:

- a more robust system to analyze Governmentwide applicant flow data (postselection)
- a more detailed and streamlined reporting process for the Federal Equal Opportunity Recruitment Program (FEORP)

³ “Governmentwide Inclusive Diversity Strategic Plan, 2016,” published by the OPM, Diversity and Inclusion Office.

- efforts to enhance agency communication techniques
- a new approach to inclusion called the New Inclusion Quotient (IQ)
- use of the Governmentwide inclusive diversity dashboard
- an online virtual educational program that provides learning for Federal employees related to disability

The 2016 Governmentwide Plan also focused on raising awareness of the potential impact of cognitive bias on all stages of the employee life cycle and supporting a system that minimizes the impact of any such biases. Additionally, the 2016 Governmentwide Plan focused on optimizing inclusive diversity efforts by using data-driven approaches to influence day-to-day decisionmaking.

On November 30, 2016, the NRC issued the agency's 2016 IDSP, which had three key strategic goals: (1) diversify the NRC workforce through active engagement of leadership, (2) include and engage everyone in the workplace, and (3) optimize inclusive diversity efforts using data-driven approaches. The 2016 IDSP also specified that the agency should update its 2010 Comprehensive Diversity Management Plan (CDMP) to include supportive strategies and activities reflecting the new goals and priorities, and that the agency should implement these strategies and activities. The NRC's FY 2021–2026 IDSP builds on the 2016 IDSP, reflecting new requirements and key diversity and inclusion principles, goals, subgoals, strategic objectives, actions, measurements, and designated responsible officials and offices. It provides timelines to foster an agencywide sense of commitment and shared responsibility and accountability for achieving the NRC's diversity and inclusion goals. The IDSP is flexible enough to allow NRC offices to enhance or expand on its structure by adding goals and strategies that address their specific interests and concerns.

Pursuant to Executive Order 13583 and the OPM's instructional guidance, the NRC, like all Federal agencies, must designate the Chief Human Capital Officer as the official responsible for the employment and promotion (employee life-cycle process) goals of the Governmentwide Plans. In particular, the Chief Human Capital Officer, in collaboration with the agency's EEO Director and the Diversity and Inclusion Director, if any, is responsible for developing and implementing the agency-specific IDSP. Executive Order 13583 and OPM guidance require that the agency implement its IDSP, after incorporating it into the agency's human capital plan, and thereafter provide information as specified in the reporting requirements.

OPM guidance provides for the creation of a formal diversity and inclusion council with visible leadership involvement as well as a method for tracking the council's progress toward achieving items listed in the IDSP. Accordingly, in 2014, the NRC created the DMIC (see Appendix A for its operational structure), which is cochaired by the agency's Office of the Chief Human Capital Officer (OCHCO) and Office of Small Business and Civil Rights (SBCR). The DMIC has a charter and mission that align with the NRC's mission. The NRC continues to rely on support from the Diversity Management Advisory Committee (DMAC), the EEO advisory committees,⁴

⁴ The EEO advisory committees include the Advisory Committee for African Americans, the Advisory Committee for Employees with Disabilities, the Asian/Pacific American Advisory Committee, the NRC Pride Alliance Advisory Committee (NPAAC, formerly LGBT+), the Diversity Advisory Committee on Ageism, the Federal Women's Program Advisory Committee, the affinity groups,⁵ and the Veterans Employee Resource Group to help increase workplace inclusion.

The responsibility for achieving the FY 2021–2026 IDSP goals resides with all NRC employees, from the top down. With this in mind, the IDSP identifies specific responsibilities for certain officials and offices, the DMIC, and other stakeholders. The NRC recognizes that a substantial amount of participation will occur at the individual office level, while OCHCO will perform overarching activities such as key human resource functions (e.g., workforce planning), and SBCR will perform EEO-related functions (e.g., barrier analysis). The two lead offices will work collaboratively to effectively implement the IDSP.

In addition, the NRC has developed a “crosswalk” document (see Appendix B) to illustrate how the FY 2021–2026 IDSP aligns with the 2016 Governmentwide Plan; Federal merit system principles (MSPs); Title 29 of the Code of Federal Regulations (29 CFR) 1614.102, “Agency program”; and the six essential elements for a model EEO program, as described in Management Directive (MD)-715, “Section 717 of Title VII,” effective October 1, 2003.

NRC Inclusive Diversity Strategic Plan Implementation

The FY 2021–2026 IDSP is the NRC’s blueprint for fully leveraging diversity in alignment with the agency’s 4-year mission strategic plan. The IDSP provides innovative agency guidelines and strategies designed to enhance the inclusiveness of the NRC work environments and further broaden the reach of education, recruitment, and small-business efforts.

Fostering an inclusive work environment and realizing the full potential of the NRC workforce requires the participation of everyone. Leaders, managers, and supervisors must employ effective management practices, continuously supplemented with diversity and inclusion change management tools. Employees are encouraged to play an active role in and be at the forefront of implementing the IDSP. Responsibility for achieving the goals in the IDSP resides with all of us. The IDSP identifies the officials and offices with primary responsibility for program implementation, while recognizing that commitment from NRC leadership is also essential.

Principle 1: Demonstrated Leadership Commitment

Goal: The NRC works to diversify the agency’s workforce through active engagement of leadership.

Strategies

- 1.1 NRC leaders communicate the importance of inclusive diversity through their words and actions. Agency senior leadership inspires and encourages all levels of leadership and employees by recognizing efforts to improve diversity and inclusion.

Hispanic Employment Program Advisory Committee, and the Native American Advisory Committee.

⁵ The affinity groups are Blacks in Government and the NRC Technical Women’s Network.

- 1.2 Managers and supervisors take responsibility for their management of programs and activities and expect to be held accountable.

Principle 2: Employee Engagement and Effective Communication

Goal: The NRC fosters a culture that encourages employees to feel valued and to experience a sense of belonging, engagement, and connection to the mission of the agency.

Strategies

- 2.1 Leaders use a wide range of workplace policies, programs, systems, techniques and practices, and communication tools to involve employees as participants in and responsible agents of diversity, mutual respect, and inclusion.
- 2.2 Managers and supervisors assess business processes and take appropriate action to promote teamwork, collaboration, cross-functional operations, and transparency, deconstructing organizational silos that lead to exclusive cultures and flawed decisionmaking.

Principle 3: Optimization of Inclusive Diversity Efforts Using Data-Driven Approaches

Goal: The NRC uses data-driven approaches to optimize policies, processes, and programs that drive inclusive diversity efforts and support the agency's mission.

Strategies

- 3.1 The NRC creates a diverse, high-performing workforce by using data-driven approaches that allow recruitment efforts to cast the broadest net possible. The agency upholds MSPs.
- 3.2 The NRC fosters its diverse, high-performing workforce by using data-driven approaches in decisionmaking related to career development and advancement.
- 3.3 The NRC uses data-driven approaches to establish performance metrics.
- 3.4 The NRC uses data-driven approaches to assess employee engagement and inclusion perceptions in order to maintain overall accountability and support diversity and inclusion efforts.
- 3.5 Managers and supervisors develop an NRC dashboard of diversity and inclusion metrics to be annually reviewed and routinely discussed throughout the year. The diversity and inclusion dashboard is a Federal Government-specific tool created to provide agencies with demographic data about hiring, group attrition, and other factors.

Principle 4: Demonstrated Commitment to Community Partnerships

Goal: The NRC actively partners and builds constructive relationships with other Federal agencies, educational institutions, public-private entities, community-based organizations, small businesses, professional associations, and other stakeholders to ensure that a wide variety of communities participate in the agency's programs, activities, and career and funding opportunities.

Strategies

- 4.1 The NRC establishes community partnerships to ensure diversity and inclusion in its workforce and business pipelines. The NRC's educational partnership programs enhance its ability to recruit effectively from all EEO groups and across generations; foster continuity in knowledge, skills, and abilities as employees retire; recruit more minorities and women to compete for technical positions within the fields of science, technology, engineering, and mathematics; and recruit more minorities and women to compete for Senior Executive Service (SES) positions. The NRC also creates community partnerships to ensure that women-owned and small businesses participate in NRC contracting activities.
- 4.2 The NRC's outreach and recruitment efforts include a focus on community partners for recruitment of mission-critical employees as determined by strategic workforce planning. The NRC conducts recruitment efforts at the national, regional, and local levels.

Principle 5: Continuous Diversity and Inclusion Cultural Competency Learning

Goal: The NRC has an ongoing program to ensure that all employees have the basic skill sets to model behaviors reflecting the principles of diversity and inclusion.

Strategies

- 5.1 The NRC uses cultural competency learning to increase employee engagement.
- 5.2 The NRC uses cultural competency learning and training to achieve organizational transformation.
- 5.3 The NRC provides affirmative employment, EEO, and diversity management training to promote equality, fairness, and equity in the workplace, while complying with applicable civil rights regulations.

Principle 6: Shared Accountability and Responsibility for Diversity and Inclusion

Goal: The expectation, communicated at the highest levels, is that diversity and inclusion are responsibilities shared among all managers, supervisors, and employees.

Strategies

- 6.1 The NRC has established diversity and inclusion goals, objectives, and measurements in its performance and accountability infrastructure.
- 6.2 Performance requirements for NRC managers and supervisors reflect diversity and inclusion standards.
- 6.3 Employee performance evaluations and award incentives recognize employees' support of and participation in EEO and diversity and inclusion initiatives.

Primary Offices, Actions, Measurements, and Timeframes

Principle 1: Demonstrated Leadership Commitment

Goal: The NRC works to diversify the agency's workforce through active engagement of leadership.

Strategy 1.1	Lead Offices/Officials
NRC leaders communicate the importance of inclusive diversity through their words and actions. Agency senior leadership inspires and encourages all levels of leadership and employees by recognizing efforts to improve diversity and inclusion.	Chairman and Commissioners, Executive Director for Operations (EDO), and NRC managers and supervisors.
Actions and Measurements	Timeframe for Implementation
The Chairman issues a diversity and inclusion policy statement separate from the agency's EEO policy.	Initial diversity and inclusion policy issued 05/18/2020. Policy reminder issued annually.
Leadership conveys that diversity and inclusion are critical to mission success. This is demonstrated through the agency's Mission Strategic Plan, performance planning, messaging, and behaviors reflecting the principles of diversity and inclusion.	Mission Strategic Plan, FY 2022–2026. Ongoing monitoring and analysis. Quarterly check-in with point of contact (POC). SBCR review of NRC offices' semiannual CDMP reports. Annual reports to external oversight agencies (e.g., report for MD-715 (policy guidance from EEOC to Federal agencies for use in establishing and maintaining effective EEO programs) to EEOC; FEORP report to OPM).
Managers and supervisors develop, revise, and effectively implement the agency's IDSP, which requires tracking of IDSP diversity and inclusion measures through various data collections (e.g., the CDMP, Federal	Drafting of IDSP 07/2020–10/2020. Employee Viewpoint Survey (FEVS), and Safety Culture Climate Survey (SCCS)) to help identify office-level efforts, progress, issues, and outcomes.	Annual reports to external oversight agencies (e.g., MD-715 report to EEOC; FEORP report to OPM).
Managers and supervisors assess the agency's progress in giving all employees opportunities for career development and growth, training, advancement, and promotions, as well as providing awards and recognition to a diverse cross-section of the workforce. This requires objectively evaluating the representation of EEO groups and women in NRC programs and activities, and accurately reporting findings to senior leadership, office management, and NRC body at the mid-year human capital briefing, at the year-end EEO briefing to the Commission, and as requested.	Quarterly assessment of progress (every 3 months). Quarterly POC check-in. Mid-year briefing (every 6 months). Year-end briefing (every 12 months).

Strategy 1.2	Lead Offices/Officials
Managers and supervisors take responsibility for their management of programs and activities and expect to be held accountable.	Chairman and Commissioners, EDO, and NRC leadership, managers, and supervisors.
Actions and Measurements	Timeframe for Implementation
The NRC develops elements and standards for SES, managers, and supervisors to evaluate their support of and participation in EEO and diversity and inclusion initiatives.	Ongoing.
At the office level (headquarters and regions), offices operationalize the FY 2021–2026 IDSP through office implementation plans. These include office-level monitoring and tracking of diversity and inclusion efforts, progress, process improvements, and performance results. Offices report diversity and inclusion efforts and outcomes as part of their semiannual CDMP reports to SBCR.	Drafting of IDSP 07/2020–10/2020. IDSP vetting and concurrence 12/2020. designated representatives present or report on IDSP implementation, issues, progress, outcomes, and overall status, either at meetings focused on the IDSP, or as appropriate during other types of meetings.
Leaders inspire and recognize excellence related to diversity and inclusion. They evaluate outcomes across NRC offices to ensure diversity, inclusion, and equality of opportunity at the NRC.	Ongoing.
Leaders benchmark other organizations, including Federal agencies, public-private entities, and academic institutions.	Ongoing.

Principle 2: Employee Engagement and Effective Communication
Goal: The NRC fosters a culture that encourages employees to feel valued and to experience a sense of belonging, engagement, and connection to the mission of the agency.

Strategy 2.1	Lead Offices/Officials
Leaders use a wide range of workplace policies, programs, systems, techniques and practices, and communication tools to involve employees as participants in and responsible agents of diversity, mutual respect, and inclusion.	SBCR, OCHCO, and DMIC.
Actions and Measurements	Timeframe for Implementation
OPM guidance provides for the creation of a formal diversity and inclusion council (e.g., including communication plans, execution strategies, and training) with visible leadership involvement. The NRC created a DMIC and conducts periodic reviews and assessments of the DMIC to determine its effectiveness in implementing the IDSP.	Ongoing.
The NRC provides guidance and support and encourages employee participation in EEO advisory groups, the DMIC, the DMAC, affinity groups, ERGs, and similar groups.	SBCR reviews and monitors managerial and supervisory actions through data collections (e.g., CDMP reports), POC check-ins, employee feedback, and EEO complaints.
The NRC evaluates employee participation in the cited groups and employees' level of access to agency leadership top-down.	Ongoing.
The NRC fosters a culture of inclusion and engagement by employing culture change strategies. Managers and supervisors engage in behaviors associated with the FOCSE (fair, open, cooperative, supportive, and empowering) habits, which are measured by the FEVS Engagement Index and the IQ.	Ongoing.

Managers and supervisors participate in employee listening sessions and provide training for all employees on cultural competency, implicit bias and microinequities, awareness, and inclusive learning. The NRC continues its Diversity Inclusion Awareness—Leading Organizational Growth, Understanding, and Engagement (DIALOGUE) program and sponsors or supports ambassadors from past cohorts as change agents.

Strategy 2.2	Lead Offices/Officials
Managers and supervisors assess business processes and take appropriate action to promote teamwork, collaboration, cross-functional operations, and transparency, deconstructing organizational silos that lead to exclusive cultures and flawed decisionmaking.	EDO and NRC leadership, managers, and supervisors.
Actions and Measurements	Timeframe for Implementation
The NRC ensures that employees have the opportunity to be heard and receive feedback, and that they have appropriate access to critical information. It also ensures that diverse ideas and viewpoints are respected, valued, and encouraged. It monitors employee feedback and identifies employee perceptions through surveys, focus group feedback, and other data collections, such as CDMP reports. The NRC measures levels of employee engagement and empowerment across the agency. It takes appropriate corrective action, observes changes to organizational structures and business processes, and reports outcomes in the CDMP reports submitted to SBCR.	Ongoing.
The agency reports findings on employee engagement to senior leadership, NRC office leadership, and external oversight agencies through data collections such as the annual MD-715 report. The NRC provides progress reports and performance outcomes to offices and senior management at the mid-year human capital briefing, at the annual EEO briefing to the Commission, and as otherwise requested.	Periodic reviews. Mid-year briefing (every 6 months). Year-end briefing (every 12 months).
The agency provides opportunities to enhance diversity across all NRC career paths.	Ongoing.

Principle 3: Optimization of Inclusive Diversity Efforts Using Data-Driven Approaches

Goal: The NRC uses data-driven approaches to optimize policies, processes, and programs that drive inclusive diversity efforts and support the agency’s mission.

Strategy 3.1	Lead Offices/Officials
The NRC creates a diverse, high-performing workforce by using data-driven approaches that allow recruitment efforts to cast the broadest net possible. The agency upholds MSPs.	SBCR, OCHCO, NRC offices, and NRC hiring officials and managers.
Actions and Measurements	Timeframe for Implementation
The NRC uses data-driven approaches to recruitment, including analyzing applicant flow data; educating hiring managers; designing fair and effective strategies for competitive recruitment and examination for the career SES that cast the broadest net possible and that apply merit principles; using applicable special hiring authorities (e.g., Schedule A authority for individuals with certain disabilities, veteran-hiring authorities) as supplements to competitive hiring processes; partnering with diverse organizations and institutions to recruit from all segments of society and to generate cognitive diversity (differing thoughts); and conducting a review of potential implicit biases within the organization.	Ongoing.

Strategy 3.2	Lead Offices/Officials
The NRC fosters its diverse, high-performing workforce by using data-driven approaches in decisionmaking related to career development and advancement.	SBCR, OCHCO, NRC offices, and NRC hiring officials and managers.
Actions and Measurements	Timeframe for Implementation
The NRC uses data-driven approaches for decisions related to promotion opportunities and career development, including analyzing applicant flow data; developing career enhancement opportunities; using appropriate collaborative practices and social media technologies; and collaborating with special emphasis program managers, affinity groups, and ERGs.	Ongoing.

Strategy 3.3	Lead Offices/Officials
The NRC uses data-driven approaches to establish performance metrics.	Senior leadership, SBCR, OCHCO, and DMIC.

Actions and Measurements	Timeframe for Implementation
The NRC collects relevant performance data to maintain awareness of the agency's diversity and inclusion status. It collaborates with other agencies and the Diversity and Inclusion in Government Council to create models for analyzing performance metrics in conjunction with diversity and inclusion metrics.	Ongoing.

Strategy 3.4	Lead Offices/Officials
The NRC uses data-driven approaches to assess employee engagement and inclusion perceptions in order to maintain overall accountability and support diversity and inclusion efforts.	SBCR, OCHCO, DMIC, DMAC, EEO advisory committees, affinity groups, ERGs, and all NRC offices.

Actions and Measurements	Timeframe for Implementation
The NRC obtains accurate and complete workforce data from sources such as the FEVS (which includes OPM's New IQ, a set of change management tools); climate assessment surveys; exit interview data; grievance data; SBCR workforce data analysis; and the Engagement Index. The IQ supplements the FEVS Inclusion Index; it measures the five FOCSE habits to determine the level of inclusion in a work environment. Managers and supervisors are trained on usage of data to effect organizational changes related to diversity and inclusion.	Ongoing.

Strategy 3.5	Lead Offices/Officials
Managers and supervisors develop an NRC dashboard of diversity and inclusion metrics to be annually reviewed and routinely discussed throughout the year. The diversity and inclusion dashboard is a Federal Government-specific tool created to provide agencies with demographic data about hiring, group attrition, and other factors.	NRC offices with guidance from SBCR.

Actions and Measurements	Timeframe for Implementation
SBCR provides guidance to offices on developing metrics.
