Good afternoon, Wade...

I have a few questions regarding the application. If you have time tomorrow morning, that would be appreciated. I can set up a Teams call with you, Jacob Long, and whomever else you would like to have on the line. For this call, I do not yet have specific additional information items to request. However, I am looking to better understand what types of materials and uses that you are seeking to be authorized for, as well as the uses of those materials. In particular, I would like to clarify which radionuclides you need authorizations for in "any" form and which would be "non-volatile." Also, it appears that you are not requesting a radiopharmacy license, where the NukeMed dba Spectron license is authorized for distribution of medical use. We can issue the license either way; also for Research and Development. However, some additional information may still be needed for a medical distribution license.

In addition, if the new license is a significant expansion of the activities currently authorized under the existing license for the facilities, we may determine that a licensing site visit is warranted. It will be helpful to clarify whether this is such an expansion, and, if so, we may be able to issue a more limited license soon, so you can start your initial testing, etc.

Thank you,

Sara,

I hope all is well with you.

I wanted to reach out and see if there is an update regarding the new AZI License submittal sent in on Feb 1, 2023. We are planning to have individuals from overseas on site in the near future to install new equipment and provide SAT testing. We are constrained with international schedules and want to be clear with them on when they would be able to arrive to complete this work. If you have any insight to when the License submission would possibly be completed, it would be greatly appreciated/helpful in our planning process.

Thank you,

Wade
