I need a bit more information to approve Chris as RSO.

- It appears that he works in Utah. How would PerkinElmer deal with the typical RSO issues of ensuring that leak tests are done, surveys are done, annual program review is completed; packages are shipped iaw DOT regs, etc in Connecticut? What happens if there is an emergency/event involving rad materials, such as a leaking source, or a fire involving the ECDs, or ECD/GC packages lost in transit, etc?
- I need to know if he has had any training and experience in the responsibilities and activities required of an RSO for this program
- Will he also be responsible for the -12G license and the distribution reports required for that license?
- I need work phone for him, if the number on the resume is a personal phone number

Hi Betsy

Please see attached Resume of Chris Bailey, the Radiation Safety Officer. Chris is Principal Mechanical Design Engineer within PerkinElmer US LLC R&D team.

Chris reports to Hakan Elmali, R&D Leader.

Please list me (Giulia Aliyeva) as a certifying official. My contacts are as per the signature below this email.

Hope this helps, and please let me know if you require anything else.

Thanks,

Thank you.

Also, we usually list a management contact to whom the RSO reports, as the certifying official for licensing actions. Which person should be named for that? this does not need a radiation safety training/experience requirement, but is used to demonstrate management awareness and support for the radiation safety program.
