Dear Chairman Jackson, Inert heavy metal which has evolved in the nuclear research programs, such as the materials used in our tanks, could benefit products designed for public use.

With this in mind, I would like to know if any of these materials can be obtained by me. If so, describe what materials are available and what procedure are necessary to obtain them.

Please afford me the same consideration you would give Dupont or G.M.

With Respect,

Howard Nixon
