SUBJECT: Review of License Amendment for adding Type B License Information.

Hi Prakash;

I was in Los Alamos most of today on other business, and I got back late in the afternoon.

Here are my review comments for the license amendment.

✓ 1. Is "jobsite" one word, or two words? I believe that "Job Site" requires two words.

✓ 2. Should the license amendment clearly and explicitly state somewhere, either "Type B License", or "Type B License Activities" I encourage using explicitness, and not implicitness. We know what the amendment is for, but an outside reviewer, such as, a NRC Freedom Of Information Act (FOIA) requester (or a new NRC auditor), would not obviously know that the amendment is for a NRC Type B Materials license, in addition to the existing NRC Type C Materials License.

10CFR 33.100,
Schedule A, C, I

3. I suggest inserting "This amendment allows Vista to perform NRC Type B Materials License activities in addition to the existing NRC Type C Materials activities." The previous sentence (or equivalent) could be inserted at the most <underline>obvious place</underline>, such as, in item number three (3.).

4. In the amendment, the words "decontamination" and "decommissioning" are always used separately, but never together. Don't you think, for explicitness and for industry standard accepted presentation, that somewhere we should insert "Decontamination and Decommissioning (D&D)" ? We all know that "D&D" is implied, but is never explicitly spelled out. This might even be an issue for a new NRC auditor.

✓ 5. Possibly, in item 9.A.1., we could insert "Decontamination and Decommissioning (D&D)"

Hopefully, the above will improve the amendment.

I will be available all day tomorrow (Tuesday). Please call (or send me an e-mail) if you need my assistance.

Sincerely,

David Sachs
