Dear Mr. Amentang,

If Chernobyl has taught us anything, it should be that safety in matters nuclear cannot be overdone.

Safety requires, among other factors, alert and awake workers. Although that can never be assured, it can be helped by limiting the number of hours employees are allowed to work. I therefore favor that proposed rule.

Safety can also be compromised if workers are afraid to point out what appears to them as unsafe situations. The proposed rule to protect "whistleblowers" is therefore equally important.

Credibly,
