Dear Chairman Meserve.

I want to let you know that I oppose the recycling of radioactive materials and wastes into consumer products and building materials. This includes all metals, concrete, plastics, glass, paper, wood, soil and equipment. I don't want the

I would like to remind you that radiation recycling will expose our descendants to unavoidable risk of genetic damage and disease from artificial radon isotopes.

I realize that you and others may have become inured to the dangers of contaminated materials having dealt with this issue for so long a time. There is however incontrovertible evidence that by selling low level radioactive waste - rather than treating it as the nuclear waste that it is - the nuclear industry is trying to make money at the expense of the public's health and safety.

Please allow the "better angels" of your conscience to prevail. You can go along with others in your field, denying that there will be no health effects for the public, or you can take a stand now as others have and in so doing, be counted among the courageous.

Sincerely

Henry P. Walshon
