I could not believe what I read. The NRC is actively attempting to introduce radioactive scrap metal into the American market? Excuse me for being skeptical of this plan. You, no doubt, will dismiss my objections saying that the dosages would be "very safe". Are you not the same trustworthy agency that told the public not to worry about radioactive waste in the 70's when the rush to build nuclear power plants was being opposed? Our scientists will have that all figured out within ten years, we were told.

GENERAL

I grew up near a nuclear waste "repository". I served more than a decade in the military and receive all the radiation I need on frequent high altitude flights. Please, take up welding and use it in your homes. The public will find no comfort in your assurances.
