Rebecca,

I guess adding the AIT press release isn't too bad but I think we may want to make sure that Dr. Jones is aware that we would like to keep the Alert declaration and initial response to the earthquake separate from the analysis of the earthquake and any AIT findings as far as INES ratings go. We can all agree that the Level 0 was appropriate for the initial event, but without further detailed information concerning the impact to safety functions it would be hard to even estimate a rating (other than knowing it would be a 3 or less).

Do you want to give her a call or shall I gen. up an email?

Dave
