Natural uranium contains 99% \( \text{U}^{238} \) and only about 0.7% \( \text{U}^{235} \) by weight.

The uranium enrichment process increases the concentration of \( \text{U}^{235} \) to the amount needed for use in reactor fuel.