

Kevin McGrattan

Mathematician - National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST)

Kevin McGrattan is a mathematician in the Building and Fire Research Laboratory at NIST. He received a BS degree in Applied Mathematics at Columbia University in 1987, and a Ph D from the Courant Institute, NYU, in 1991. His research involves the development of fire models, in particular the Fire Dynamics Simulator.