

Paul Gunter is the Director of the Reactor Watchdog Project for Nuclear Information and Resource Service (NIRS) since 1991. Mr. Gunter is an environmental activist, energy policy analyst and regulatory watchdog on the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission and the nuclear power industry and has been an ardent critic of atomic power development for over 30 years. NIRS is a national clearinghouse for citizen groups throughout the United States focused on the hazards of commercial nuclear power and nuclear waste issues.