

TAMAR JERGENSEN CERAFICI, J.D., CH2M HILL

Tamar Cerafici is a senior consultant in CH2M HILL's Nuclear Business Group. Before joining CH2M HILL, Ms. Cerafici was an environmental litigator and educator. She recently participated as an expert environmental witness in the first-of-its-kind Licensing Board hearing for an Early Site Permit. She is well-known for creating a successful blend of strategy, collaboration, interpreting policy and regulation, leading community-based activists, and articulating corporate interests. In addition to her experience as an environmental attorney, Ms. Cerafici is internationally recognized as an expert in successfully blending environmental, political, and legal strategies to develop standard-setting solutions for siting nuclear facilities and due diligence issues surrounding the purchase of nuclear facilities.

Ms. Cerafici currently focuses her practice on all facets of siting the new generation of nuclear power plants. She has been a leading expert in this emerging environmental and energy field since 2001.
