

George Antaki

Mr. Antaki is Chief Engineer at Becht Nuclear Services, a Fellow of the ASME, member of several Code committees including Vice-Chairman of ASME B31 Mechanical Design Committee, Chairman of the Task Group Design HDPE piping, and member of the ASME III Working Group on Piping Design. Mr. Antaki has over 35 years of experience in the nuclear and process industries. Most recently he worked with EPRI in developing the Guidelines for buried piping systems in nuclear power plants.