

Michael Bailey

Michael Bailey has worked at Duke Energy for over 20 years. He has served in various engineering groups within Duke Energy. Currently, he supervises the Oconee Nuclear Station Digital Process System engineering group which is responsible for the Protection, Controls and Monitoring systems. He has been involved in numerous digital upgrades at Oconee Nuclear Station including the Reactor Protection System, Engineered Safeguards System, Digital Control Rod Drive Control System, and Process Control System using Foundation Fieldbus.