

Eric de Fraguier

Eric de Fraguier is presently in EDF's Nuclear Engineering Division head team near Paris where he deals with technical assistance to the 58 existing French NPP's. He has more than 30 years of experience in nuclear engineering and operation services through various positions as technical or management lead within EDF from design of new plants to operation feedback experience of existing plants.

Recently 2007/2008 he has move to the States and joined UNISTAR as Procurement and Engineering SVP on the US EPR projects. Since summer 2009 he is back in France where he particularly drives EDF project dealing with plant improvements against flooding hazards following Blayais 1999 event.

He graduated from Ecole Centrale de Paris (1977). He is married and has 2 children (21 and 18 years).