

Mark Manoleras

Mark Manoleras is currently the Director of Engineering at the Beaver Valley Power Station in Shippingport, Pa. Mark joined Beaver Valley in 1989 after earning a Bachelor of Engineering degree from Pennsylvania State University. He held various engineering positions at Beaver Valley before moving to the Instrumentation and Controls Unit at the Perry Nuclear Power Plant. He then returned to Beaver Valley and has held various management positions in Nuclear Engineering, including Manager of Design Engineering and Manager of Nuclear Engineering. Mark was promoted to his current position in Dec. 2006.