

Jacques Repussard

Jacques Repussard has been Director General of the Institute for Radiological Protection and Nuclear Safety (IRSN) since March 2003. Prior to that, he began his career in the Industry ministry of France then served successively as the Deputy Director of the French Standards Association (AFNOR), Vice President of the French Quality Assurance Association (AFAQ), Director of the European Standards Committee (CEN) and Deputy Director General of the National Institute for Industrial Environment and Risks (INERIS).