Commissioner Merrifield's Comments on SECY-05-0156

I approve the staff's recommendation to continue participation in the Halden Reactor Project (HRP) through FY2008. I believe the benefits from the multinational-funded research being performed in the areas of nuclear fuels; nuclear reactor materials and performance; the testing, development, and analysis of digital instrumentation and control systems; human factors research; and human reliability analysis; will help the NRC prepare for the future by evaluating new designs and technologies for use by both the current fleet and new reactors. Sharing the research costs with 19 other countries for the HRP programs is an efficient use of NRC resources that derives significant rewards for only a modest investment.

Commissioner Lyons' Comments on SECY-05-0156

I approve the staff's recommendation to continue participation in the Halden Reactor Project (HRP) and approve continued funding through FY2008. NRC has used the HRP products and information for code validation, to extend the applicability of analytical tools, and in support of regulatory positions in several key topic areas. These multinational research efforts are invaluable in providing an opportunity to leverage the data and experience of others in NRC's efforts to ensure adequate protection of public health and safety and the environment. Continued participation in the HRP will afford opportunities to share in the diverse perspectives, and knowledge and experience of others.

Peter B. Lyons
